Princeton Football Program Appears Solid Again After 2 Winning Seasons

Thirty years ago this fall, Princeton and Cornell met in a football game, ranked eighth and 12th in the country, respectively. The contest, played to a sell out crowd at Palmer Stadium, drew national attention.

Led by the passing and running of Heisman Trophy winner Dick Kazmaier, the Tigers destroyed the Big Red, 53-15, and went on to complete their second consecutive undefeated season.

With the constraints now placed on Ivy League football, Princeton will never again achieve that lofty status, but as it prepares for its 113th season it has at least regained a measure of that success.

Undefeated campaigns may have been the exception, but winning records rarely escaped the Orange and Black over the years. In the 1970's, however, Princeton logged almost a decade of disappointing results, suffering through eight consecutive losing seasons in the Ivy League.

Some disgruntled alumni argue that the decline in football fortunes was a direct result of coeducation at the university. The timing is merely a coincidence, but whether it was the fault of the admissions office, recruiting efforts or other factors, fewer quality players matriculated here in those years.

The coaching, which had rarely been questioned, became a frequent target of criticism, and two head coaches were let go. Team morale was often low.

Finally, the work of many dedicated individuals working to turn the program around have paid off, and the feeling is that the major problems have been overcome. In the forefront of efforts to revive the program has been the Friends of Princeton Football.

Formed in 1970, the group raises funds to augment University expenditures in the sport. Members work closely with the head coach and athletic director, particularly in areas of recruiting, the training table and coaches' clinics.

The Friends also sponsor the season-ending banquet, awards to outstanding players, and "career nights" for upperclassmen.

In 1979, coach Frank Navarro's second year, the Tigers completed their first winning season (5-4) since 1970, and last fall added another, winning six of 10.

The excitement has returned to Palmer Stadium. The Orange and Black defeated Colgate last October with a scoring drive that produced a touchdown with only seconds left on the clock. The final contest against Dartmouth produced some of the most thrilling play seen here in years. The Tigers finally pulled ahead to stay fate in the fourth quarter, but had to fight off several determined challenges by the visitors.

Only 15,000 spectators saw that game, and the total home attendance for six games, about 60,000, would have been matched by just two home crowds in bygone years. The revival of the sport may well produce a revival at the gate.

There is much reason for satisfaction, then, but still

Borough Council Passes Resolution Placing Garage on November Ballot

Confronted by a petition that not only met the legal requirements but met them twice over, Borough Council had very little choice last Thursday but to pass a resolution placing the $105,000 garage design bond ordinance on the November ballot.

State law requires the signatures of property-owners whose ownings represent ten percent of the total assessed valuation of the municipality before a bond ordinance can be voted on in referendum. Sponsors of the petition had 22 percent.

On August 11, Council passed the $105,000 bond ordinance to finance design of a 240-car parking garage on the corner of Spring and Tulane. A citizens committee then began to canvass Borough homes, obtaining signatures which they hoped would total the required $35,652,164 in assessed valuation. Even before the deadline, they had signatures representing $79 million valuation. The Borough's taxable valuation is $356,251,642.

John B. Miller, chairman of the group, told members of Borough Council that his chief worry is the possible tax burden of the new garage; however, many of his allies are people who do not want Princeton Community Housing's 89-unit apartment for the elderly to be built at the rear of the library parking lot.

Garage and housing are linked because it is necessary to find storage space for cars displaced by the apartment building. Princeton Community Housing is scheduled to present its site plans for the structure to the Planning Board next month.

Architect Suggests Land Trade University May Get Dinky Area

Re-drawing the lines to make a rectangle out of a triangle isn't just an impossible exercise in geometry. It might make the Dinky station area more attractive to a developer.

That was the suggestion of architect-consultant J. Robert Hillier at a meeting with Borough Council member Richard Macgill; the Township representative, Richard Schoch, and Eugene McPartland of Princeton University. The two municipalities signed, this summer, a contract with New Jersey Transit for development of the property.

Following Mr. Hillier's sketched-out plan, the University would turn over the present parcel of land occupied by its food services

School Board Is Upheld In Transfer of Teachers

Princeton's school board was upheld this week by New Jersey Commissioner of Education Fred Burke in its decision to transfer physical education teachers Larry Ivan and Tom Murray. Commissioner Burke reversed the ruling of an administrative law judge that would have prevented the board from going ahead with the transfer.

Mr. Burke's ruling came at 2 p.m. Tuesday. At 5 p.m., Melvin Narol, lawyer for the two teachers, announced that they would appeal.

The case is scheduled for 10 a.m. this Wednesday before Judge Robert Matthews of the Appellate Division. Under usual procedures, the teachers would carry their appeal to the State Board of Education; however, Mr. Narol said that body would not have been able to schedule the hearing in time.

A full hearing on the merits of the case will be held at a date not yet fixed, before August E. Thomas, the administrative law judge who made the over-turned ruling. Commissioner Burke said he was reversing Judge Thomas' ruling, "pending determination on the merits."

Commissioner Burke, in vacating Judge Thomas' ruling, said it must be assumed that a school board's actions are correct, unless there is "clear demonstration of illegal, arbitrary or capricious action." He also said he did not agree there would be impending damage to the children — as the teachers had claimed — because if there were, it would be within the Commissioner's power to correct.

Following the full hearing, Judge Thomas will make a recommendation. Under the law, Commissioner Burke may accept it or reject it.

As a result of the Commissioner's ruling, therefore, Mr. Ivan will report to Littlebrook this Wednesday — the first day of school — and Mr. Murray to the middle school. Both had been in the physical education department at Princeton High School.

Physical education teachers Joe Diefenbach and George Povilaitis will be at the high school instead of the middle school and Robert Gilbert will be at the middle school instead of Littlebrook.

Don't Be Misled.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Please do not be misled! Do not permit public officials or newspaper editorials to use the old Princeton tactic of turning attention away from the revaluation issue to a personality attack. Remember, this tax problem is a local problem that has cost the taxpayers over $110,000. Both Borough Council and Township Committee voted for revaluation and contracted with P.R.C. Jacobs firm to carry it out.

Both governing bodies accepted the report before forwarding it to the County. Supporting evidence illustrates that the terms of the contract have not been carried out, great numbers of mistakes are being uncovered and many property details have been misrepresented.

Princeton Township and Borough property owners have always paid high taxes and deserve quality leadership and professional service for their tax dollars spent by public officials. The citizens also have a right to expect that Council and Township Committee be held accountable and responsible for the fulfillment and certification of municipal contracts.

At the October 1979 Borough Council public meeting, Mayor Cawley stated, "I believe that when the notices go out, whenever that may be, they will be in good shape. I am sure that there will be some appeals of the new appraisals, but I am also confident the job, which is supervised by the borough-township tax assessor, Stuart Robson, will be as professional and accurate as possible." (A few mistakes? Over 650 property owners have filed to date.)

Facts prove that P.R.C. Jacobs has failed to execute specified terms of the revaluation contract, misrepresented facts and lied about our taxpayers. Where was Mr. Robson, Borough Council and Township Committee while all this was going on?

Mistakes and faulty work have been obvious, dating back to October 1979, when I requested that the Council terminate the P.R.C. Jacobs contract. Needless to say, my request was denied. But Mr. Macgill reported during that same week that P.R.C. Jacobs had computed the values of all 6,000 borough and township properties twice — each time on the basis of a different assessment factor.

Both factors have resulted in property values which "proved to be ridiculous when compared to the actual market value of the homes in the two municipalities." Mr. Macgill, as Borough Finance Chairman, has been one of the people responsible for overseeing the revaluation project. Because of the obvious deficiencies with this firm, why were they not watched more closely by Council and Township Committee?

However, the finger should not only be pointed at P.R.C. Jacobs, but at our local office holders for not protecting our taxpayers best interest. Many individuals and families have been hurt by this revaluation. Long time Princetonians and middle income families are being forced to sell their homes.

As we try to help the two communities, the Tax Revolt Committee has received no cooperation, but only stumbling blocks, from Princeton Township and Borough officials.

We are seeking answers and action from our elected officials. For example, why haven't Borough-Township requested P.R.C. Jacobs to certify their work, guaranteeing that it was completed as specified in the contract? Why wasn't council prepared to certify their work, if it was done according to the contract? Why was the Council close-mouthed regarding whose responsibility it was to oversee the project?

My goal has always been to keep Princeton a multi-class society where all economic groups could live in harmony. During my nine years on Borough Council, the citizens know of my numerous efforts to make this goal a reality.

Now, my fellow citizens are in danger of losing their most precious possession, their homes. If revaluation is not turned back, Princeton is just inches away from becoming a one-class society. This will not be tolerated by some of us.

Thank you, TOWN TOPICS, for pointing out that I have always been against revaluation. Facts are important, aren't they? All credit should not go to me alone. The Mayor and Council consist of seven people, each having one vote. Because it was in the best interest of the community, for 17 years, each Council made the decision to postpone revaluation in the borough. Council people such as Barbara Sigmund, Alice Male, Bob Powell and many others, during my nine years, made a community decision not to reevaluate. They, also, understood the great pressure of the high taxes on the people.

My fellow citizens, it is obvious from the facts, that the taxpayers have not received professional services for their $110,000. No one seems to want to take the responsibility for P.R.C. Jacobs, but what is happening with all of our other contracts? It is your hard earned money ... think about it.

COMMITTEE TO MEET
On Varied Agenda. Township Committee will resume its regular schedule this Wednesday with a meeting at 8 in the Valley Road Building Meeting Room. Township taxpayers who are protesting revaluation and higher taxes in a move led by George Pinelli are expected to have their day in court, following the example of their Borough counterparts last week.

The public hearing for two ordinances have been scheduled. One authorizes the appropriation of $10,000 in bonds and notes for further improvements in the Mercer Road alignment, and the other establishes a sewer rehabilitation trust fund for the Princeton-Rocky Hill-Montgomery sewer system.

New business will include raising the registration tag fee for dogs from 50 cents to $1. The cost of registering a dog in the Township will stay at $7. Walter Wheeler, who has been Acting Township Engineer pending receiving his license to practice engineering in the state of New Jersey will be named to the full title of Township Engineer.

Committeeman William Cherry is expected to report on a meeting with the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad executive committee in an effort to resolve the funding of the two paid paramedics. The work session will be devoted to the Dinky area development, and Committee will go into a closed session on municipal court procedures and litigation.

TWO HURT SERIOUSLY

In Single Car Crash. Two teenage youths and a woman were injured last week when their car failed to stop at the foot of Elm Ridge Road at the intersection of Carter Road.

Anthony Dell, 19, Fireside Avenue, Trenton, a Princeton Day School graduate and driver of the car, sustained head and facial injuries. Andrew Goodyear, 17, of the Great Road, received a severe neck injury and facial cuts and abrasions. A second passenger, Lynn Woolfe, 42, of W. Lafayette Road, was released later in the week from Princeton Medical Center where she had been treated for a concussion, facial cuts and abrasions.

Following the 12:55 accident last Wednesday morning, all were transported to the Princeton Medical Center by the Hopewell First Aid Squad. A hospital spokesman reported that Goodyear was transferred the next day, in critical condition, to a hospital in Philadelphia; Dell was transferred two days later to another hospital in fair condition.

According to Hopewell Township State Police, the Dell car was travelling east on Elm Ridge when it failed to stop for the Carter Road stop sign. It continued through the intersection on to an embankment and came to rest on top of the embankment.

No charges have been made but the accident is still under investigation by Trooper Randy Martin.

Hillsborough Man Killed. Joseph Graham, 20, of Hillsborough was killed Saturday morning about 3 when the car in which he was riding struck a utility pole.

Roberto F. Tonelli, 19, 81 Leigh Avenue, another passenger in the car, was admitted in fair condition to Somerset Medical Center in Somerville. Police are not sure which victim was the driver.

According to police, their car apparently went out of control as it rounded a curve on County Route 514, crossed the roadway and rammed into the pole. Graham was thrown from the car by the force of the impact.

THE BROTHERS HOUSTON

Both Are Arrested. Two brothers, Geoffrey Houston, 24, 459 Walnut Lane, and Charles Houston, 23, no known address, were arrested last week by Borough police and charged with a total of seven offenses.

Geoffrey has been charged with resisting arrest, interfering with an arresting officer, possession of marijuana and assault and battery; Charles with resisting arrest, assault and battery and criminal mischief. They were described later by police as being extremely belligerent, violent and under the influence. Both were later released after being issued complaint summonses.

Police report their involvement began at 9:21 Friday evening when Ptl. Glenn Stanton encountered Charles Houston in the Tulane-Witherspoon lot area. Police said that Houston began to abuse the officer and then tried to assault him before he could get out of his patrol car.

At that point, Geoffrey Houston, police continue, allegedly became violent and tried to free his brother from the grasp of Ptl. Stanton and his backup, Ptl. William Clark.

Two days earlier, Charles Houston had run afoul of the Township police. He was arrested at the intersection of Valley Road and Walnut Lane by Ptl. Anthony Gaylord, who charged him with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana.

He was allegedly observed by Ptl. Gaylord, discarding an item which was found to contain green vegetation believed to be marijuana. Houston was later released, pending his appearance in Township court September 22.

School's another
Kind of fun,
But not the same
As see and sun.

Most public schools in the area opened for business this Wednesday, and sure enough, it was predicted that the sun would be out to welcome children to their classrooms. It must be a conspiracy.

Some cool Canadian air was expected to blow in Tuesday night, clearing out the gloomy overcast that has been around for about a week. Mostly sunny and breezy weather should result for Thursday and Friday and possibly into the weekend as well. Temperatures will be on the cool side.

PHS: WITH PRIDE

Dedication Planned. The remodeling almost complete — a few touches needed here and there — Princeton High will dedicate its "new" building in an informal ceremony this Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The dedication will be in the foyer of the new gymnasium, reached by the Walnut Lane door. Trent Norris, president of Student Council, will be master of ceremonies. The program calls for brief remarks by John Sakala, principal of the school; Paul Houston, superintendent of schools, and Dale Madden, president of the school board.

After the dedication, the audience will move to the renovated auditorium for a three-screen slide show — background music by the PHS band and orchestra — prepared by Marianne Hartmann, Herbert Highfield and Kenneth Bowers of the staff.

A guided tour of the building, led by students, will end in the library conference room where refreshments will be served.

CONFERENCE PLANNED

By Anti-Nuclear Coalition. "The Choice is Ours: Confronting the Nuclear Arms Race," the second annual teaching conference presented by the Coalition to Reverse the Nuclear Arms Race, will be held Saturday evening, September 26 and Sunday, September 27 at Nassau Presbyterian Church, 61 Nassau Street.

Registration will be held Saturday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. A film, "War Without Winners," will be followed at 8:15 by an address by Charles William Maynes on "American Foreign Policy: New Dangers." Mr. Maynes, currently editor of Foreign Policy magazine, was Assistant Secretary of State for International Organization affairs from 1977-1980. Earlier, he served as a foreign service officer in Laos and Moscow.

George F. Kennan of the Institute for Advanced Study, will respond to this address and comment on current Soviet policy. Mr. Kennan, former U.S. Ambassador to the U.S.S.R. and recent recipient of the Albert Einstein Peace Prize, is an articulate opponent of the nuclear arms race.

He believes with the Coalition that "... the nuclear bomb is the most useless weapon ever invented. It can be employed to no rational purpose. It is not even an effective defense against itself."

Dimensions of Arms Race. The costs inherent in pursuing nuclear supremacy will be explored from economic, psychological, theological and human rights perspectives on Sunday. There will be an 11 a.m. interfaith service in the Princeton University Chapel at which Dr. Donald W. Shriver, Jr., president of Union Theological Seminary in NYC will preach.

A noon luncheon will be followed by a 1 p.m. film, "Paul Jacobs and the Nuclear Gang." At 2 there will be an address by Tom Farer, "Should Foreign Policy Have a Moral Dimension?" Mr. Farer, Distinguished Professor, Rutgers-Camden Law School and president of the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights of the O.A.S., has written extensively on international law and human rights issues.

Lloyd Jeff Dumas, Associate professor of Political Economy at the University of Texas, Dallas, and an expert on the economics of the arms race, will speak on "Inflation, Unemployment and the Military Budget" at 4. At 6:30, after a light supper, Robert Jay Lifton will give a talk entitled "Nuclear Numbing and Beyond."

Mr. Lifton is a research professor in Psychiatry at Yale who has written extensively on the psychological effects of the atomic bomb in Hiroshima and the Vietnam War experience.

The final address, "Renewal and Hope in the Nuclear Age: A Theological Perspective," will be given by William Sloane Coffin, Jr., Senior Minister of the Riverside church, New York City.

Church Sponsorship. This year's conference is sponsored by more than 20 churches and religious organizations in the Princeton area. The committee planning the conference is chaired by the Rev. John Crocker Jr., rector of Trinity Episcopal Church.

Registration fee for the conference is $5 for each day's events, $2 for students and senior citizens. Modestly priced box lunches will be available Sunday at noon, or participants may bring their own. A light supper will be available Sunday evening at 5:30, and child care will be provided.

Brochures with full details and a registration form are available at the Coalition office, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, N.J., 924-5022. Preregistration is recommended, and registration will also be available at the door.

TWO ARE CHARGED

Following Purse Theft. Two men were arrested and hit with four police charges, following the theft Sunday of a purse on Witherspoon Street.

The operator of a moped called police at 1:44 to report that as she was riding on Witherspoon near Shirley Court, her moped hit a bump and her purse fell to the roadway. An unidentified man, she said, ran out into the street and picked it up and fled to the rear of 157 Witherspoon.

Ptl. William Nathan responded and after an investigation arrested Anthony Boone, 29, of Trenton. Boone was charged with theft and resisting arrest.

Lester Bethea, 26, 16 Leigh Avenue, was charged with obstruction of law and simple assault, after he allegedly tried to come to Boone's aid while he was being arrested. Ptl. Glenn Stanton assisted in the arrests.

Both men are scheduled to appear in court here October 7. The purse was later recovered, minus the $11 it had contained.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

By PDS Trustees. Mrs. Thomas W. Eglin, Lawrenceville, was re-elected chairman of the board of trustees of Princeton Day School for the coming academic year at the annual meeting of the trustees held in June, it was announced this week.

John D. Wallace was re-elected vice-chairman and Walter F. Gips Jr., treasurer. The secretary for the 1981-82 academic year will be Mrs. Richard de J. Osborne.

Four trustees were elected to their first three-year terms. They are Samuel W. Lambert III, Hun Road, a partner in the law firm of Smith, Cook, Lambert and Miller; Winton G. Manning, Morven Place a vice-president of Educational Testing Service; Peter G. Rossmassler, Mountain View Road, financial consultant and Dr. Richard S. Weeder, Drakes Corner Road, affiliated with the Hunterdon Medical Center.

POLITICS

Township Democrats. Charging "spend-thrift policies" by the Republican majority on Township Committee, Democratic Township candidates Alan Medvin and Lesley Bush fired the first gun in the fall campaign this week. They are running with Ginger Lennon, who seeks the post of Township clerk.

The candidates cite what they call "needless expenses" related to the Township master plan: "Why were the findings of several consultants ignored? Why must about $225,000 of taxpayers' money be spent annually on litigation in defense of the master plan?"

In addition, they charge that Committee did not oversee the recent property revaluation, "the result of which was a shoddy performance by the consultant for the revaluation, and an inordinate number of tax appeals."

Democrats say that revaluation was not tied to zoning changes specified by the master plan, so that "taxpayers in most sections of the township will subsidize the property taxes of those residents living elsewhere."

The Mercer-Quaker Bridge intersection "is at best aggravating; at worst, dangerous," the Democrats declare. "Residents should be outraged at the price-tag of the modification — $150,000 — and the additional cost for re-design."

They also said in their statement that they planned to question "the costly expansion of the Township's offices into the old Valley Road School and reductions in social and transportation services."

When Administrator Joseph R. Nini resigned his clerk's duties — he is still administrator — the clerk's job became open. Township Committee appointed an acting clerk, but according to state law, the clerk must be elected by the voters.

Mrs. Lennon said the key issue in her campaign "will be how to provide professional and efficient services while tightening the budget." She pointed to her background in mathematics as "the foun-

TWO COMPUTERS STOLEN

From Computer Center. Two computers were reported stolen early Tuesday morning from a room in the university's Computer Center on Prospect Avenue.

Entry to the room was gained through an unlocked door. Police report that they have not yet received any value for the missing computers but assume they are expensive. Ptl. David Alston, Ptl. Charles Davall and members of University Security investigated.

Early last week, someone took $15 from a cash box in a Chambers Street office. There was no forced entry.

Four silk shirts valued at $70 each were shoplifted last week from Landou's, 114 Nassau Street.

An employee followed two suspects and was later joined by Ptl. Donald Dawson and Ptl. Robert Mucciorelli but the three were unable to locate them. About an hour later, an employee discovered the shirts behind a counter in Zinder's, 102 Nassau Street. They were returned to Landou's.

NEW FACULTY NAMED.

At The Hun School. The Hun School of Princeton will open its 68th year this Wednesday with a full enrollment of 500 students and the largest faculty body in the history of the school. Announcing the appointment of 11 new faculty members, headmaster G. Gerold Donaldson Jr. noted that the school's faculty-student ratio now stands at one to nine.

Of those newly appointed, two are alumni of the school: David C. Fous '76, who will teach history, and Michael L. Freed '72 who will teach French and Spanish.

A Princeton resident, Mr. Faus was captain of the wrestling and cross country

Stolen Property on View

If you've lost jewelry or silver in a theft there is an outside chance the New York City police may have recovered them.

Township Chief Frederick Porter reported this week that New York City police has advised New Jersey authorities that a large amount of jewelry, silverware and silver serving pieces are in their possession as a result of a major investigation in August. The items will be displayed Sept. 14-17 at police headquarters, 1 Police Plaza, in New York City.

Victims of past burglaries and larcenies are invited to view the property for identification and future recovery. Those planning to go should bring a copy of the police investigation report of their burglary or theft, Chief Porter said.

teams and a student proctor while at Hun. He graduated from Kenyon College where he was president of the Koko Singers, a male a cappella singing group. Last year he taught at the Landon School in Bethesda, Md.

Mr. Freed, a graduate of Temple University, replaces Helene Davies who is on a year's leave of absence from Hun. Mr. Freed has taught languages for four years at Stevens College in Lenox, Mass.

Other faculty appointments include Gary G. Brown of Lambertville, who earned a B.A. degree from West Liberty State College and will teach science. Mr. Brown has taught for eight years, the last five at the Fisher Junior High School in Ewing.

Jayne Elfreth, flutist and graduate of West Chester State College, will teach instrumental music in the middle and upper schools. She has served as past president of the West Chester Chapter of the Music Educators National Conference.

Kimberly A. Hall, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State College, replaces Kathryn Quirk, director of girls' athletics, who is on a year's leave of absence. Miss Hall has taught physical education for the past two years at the Phillipsburg Middle School. In addition to her experience in regular physical education programs, she has been trained in adaptive physical education.

A recent graduate of Princeton University, Jeffrey L. Fisher will teach English at Hun. His extracurricular interests in music, drama and dance led him to write a musical for his senior thesis, and the work is currently in the hands of a group of New York producers. This past summer he established a community entertainment center for parents and children in Bristol.

Gloria A. Morris, a graduate of Trenton State College, will join the Mathematics department at Hun. A teacher for 10 years at Ewing Junior High and Hamilton High School, Mrs. Morris comes to Hun from Sperry Univac where she was associate systems instructor at the worldwide education center at Princeton. Also joining the mathematics department is Philip T. Noyovitz, who has a bachelor's degree in business administration from Temple University.

YWCA OFFICER SEMINAR
For Volunteers. The Adult Department of the YWCA will offer two educational programs of training for community volunteers.

A series of five seminars beginning Wednesday, September 23, "Skills Training For Volunteers" will focus on the motivation and supervision of volunteers, recruitment and utilization of volunteers, communication skills, what makes a group work and volunteer staff relations. These workshops will be led by Marge Smith, trainer in group dynamics and president of the YWCA Board of Directors.

"Tutor Training Program" is a five-session series to be held Monday-Friday, September 14-18, from 9:30-11:30 a.m. or 7:30-9:30 p.m. The session is designed to provide volunteer tutors working with refugees and foreign visitors with the skills necessary for successful tutor-student relationships. The only requirement is the ability to speak, read and write in English and a desire to teach. Following the series, tutors will be expected to meet with students once or twice each week for one-hour sessions at a mutually convenient time.

This series can open up a new and rewarding experience for potential volunteers who wish to help others adjust to their new life in the United States. The program will be taught by Sandra Barlow, State English as a Second Language Instructor for Literacy Volunteers of N.J. For further information, fees and registration, call the YWCA, 924-5571.

PEDESTRIAN CONFRONTED

By Nude Man. As a Princeton resident was walking on Nassau Street near Snowden Lane Saturday evening, a man, without warning, jumped out from behind some bushes and confronted her. He was wearing only shoes, police said.

The victim left the area and called police at 9:30. The suspect is described as 5-10, slight, in his early 20s with short, dark hair.

THREE ARE FINED

In Township Court. Three Princeton residents were fined last week in Township court by Judge Sydney Souter.

Nothan F. Horris, 94 Gollup Road, was fined $40 for a stop sign violation and Stephen Hume, 47 Park Place, paid $25 as an unlicensed driver. Geoffrey M. Houston, 459 Walnut Lane, was fined $50 each of two charges of inhaling toxic vapors. He was placed on supervised probation for one year and ordered to continue treatment at the Princeton House.

COCAINE CHARGE LEVIED

Against Township Youth. A 17 year-old Township youth has been apprehended and charged by Township police with possession of cocaine and with intent to distribute. He was later released to his parents to await further action by a Mercer County Court.

Paying Customers

About ten students — the exact number isn't known yet — will attend Princeton's public schools as tuition-paying customers this year, according to Superintendent Paul Houston.

The children come from families who live in neighboring towns, and prefer Princeton's public schools to a private school. Princeton, on its part, isn't averse to the extra income.

For children in grades K-5, the tuition is $2,145; for grades six through eight, $2,345 and for high school, $2,545.

A search warrant was executed at the home of the youth by Det. Jerry Offredo, the Township juvenile officer, Det. Samuel Bianco and Ptl. Peter Savalli. Found during the search of the home, Det. Offredo reported, was an amount of cocaine and various other small quantities of controlled dangerous substances. The investigation is continuing.

Make your mark — your own book-mark. It could win a prize, achieving immortality and a permanent place in the public library as a reminder of this year's Art People Party.

Thought they'd forgotten, didn't you? The Arts Council of Princeton usually plans Art People parties for May, but why do the same thing every year?

This time, it's going to be on Sunday, October 4. Theme: "In Print." The Party will salute writing and illustration, the 20th anniversary of the Friends of the Princeton Library and the Year of the Library.

Take (or mail) the book-mark you design to the circulation desk of the library. Even if it doesn't win a prize, it will be displayed on "In Print" Sunday.

The library itself will be open from 3 to 7 that day. The Arts Council hopes that writers living in Princeton will be there, not to give talks, but simply to greet readers and accept praise about whatever they've written lately.

Presses in the area will be invited to describe their workings and services. Creative Theatre will tell how it adapted "Charlotte's Web" to the stage, and McCarter Theatre will describe the same process for "A Christmas Carol."

Literary foods will be for sale ("a loaf of bread, a jug of wine" and maybe Bob Cratchitt's Christmas goose). They're thinking about a scrapbook, in which you'd write your favorite quotation. Calligraphers are expected to be present, and an appraiser who will tell you the worth of a fine old volume.

There is even some talk about inviting you to come as your favorite hero or heroine.

diverse and dedicated group of volunteers Bainbridge House would be unable to be open to the public and to provide the wide range of services now available.

Currently the Historical Society of Princeton is seeking to increase its volunteer staff.

Volunteers are also needed in many other areas including library and curatorial staff.

graphic design and hospitality, to name only some of the possibilities. The qualifications, responsibilities and training all vary with the assignment.

Bainbridge House volunteers have an opportunity to learn more about Princeton's own history and to take part in monthly programs and tours arranged especially for volunteers. Interested individuals may contact Diane Unruh at the Historical Society, 921-6748 for an interview.

Do as Nature does... and plant in the fall!

Why? Because it's a great time to plant, naturally. The soil stays summer-warm far into fall, so fall-planted plants grow roots that are long and strong...that store up nourishment for a growing head start when spring comes. The cool, comfortable air helps plants recover from summer. The sun's rays are kinder, so fall-planted plants don't wilt and suffer. They feel more "at home" and get acclimated faster to their new environment before winter arrives. And more rain falls in the fall, too.

Readings Over Coffee

Dr. Donald Ecroyd will begin the new season of "Readings Over Coffee" at the Princeton Public Library on Wednesday, September 16, at 10:30 a.m. He will read selections from William Saroyan's "The Human Comedy." This is a free program sponsored by the Friends of the Princeton Public Library and everyone is welcome.

Christian book, gift and resource center, will be present to greet visitors.

The additional space has tripled the sales area of the store. Some areas that have increased significantly are gift items, children's books, records and jewelry — all designed to express aspects of the Christian faith.

Other unique features of the Lamplighter are its free cassette lending library of inspirational speakers, a handcraft "on consignment" corner, a lounge area for book-readers, conservationists and lunch-time nibblers and a staff more concerned with personal concern than sales.

GAMES A FEATURE

Of Blairstown Pot Pourri. The Blairstown Pot-Pourri is scheduled for Saturday, September 19, from 10 to 3 at Jadwin Gym.

This year the Pot-Pourri will feature New Games, a series of non-competitive activities that focus on group fun. Open without charge to everyone, the games will offer a relaxed atmosphere to meet people and make new friends.

Along with the games, the Pot-Pourri will also offer its traditional book sale, plants, a craft table and refreshments. The prizes for this year's raffle include a $500 trip to anywhere, donated by Kuller Travel, a Panasonic portable television a weekend at Blairstown, and a handmade walnut clock. Tables for a flea market will also be available for rent.

Closely affiliated with Princeton University, the Princeton education Center at Blairstown is a separate non-profit corporation founded by undergraduates, faculty and alumni in 1909 as the Princeton Summer Camp to provide summer activity for economically disadvantaged youth.

Originally located in Bayhead, the Center was moved to its current 270-acre site three miles north of Blairstown in northwestern New Jersey in 1930. It was rededicated in 1978, after winterization and redesign, as a year-round outdoor focused learning environment. The Center now provides expanded summer and school-year programs for youth.

If you would like to donate books for the book sale, or rent a table for the flea market, call Ev Pinneo or Barbara Macauley at 452-3340.

CHOIR COLLEGE TO GAIN

committee to bring Princeton area people to the Westminster campus for an evening of musical entertainment and fund-raising to help students in the College meet their college expenses.

Entertainment will be provided by the Westminster Singers under the direction of Allen Crowell and by a quartet of faculty members. The variety program will include Broadway show hits, madrigals, Brahms quartets, ballads, and folk songs.

Mr. Crowell is an alumnus of Westminster, class of 1959. He joined the U.S. Army Chorus of Washington, DC after graduation. In 1964, he became director of the Chorus and associate bandmaster of the U.S. Army Band. Until his retirement as a Major in 1979, he performed at every major occasion of State, including such events as the Astronaut Dinner in Los Angeles and the signing of the Arab-Israeli Peace Treaty. At Westminster he is associate professor of Conducting.

Mrs. Stevens urges that reservations be made as soon as possible since there is a limited number of places available. Reservations should be made by calling the College Development Office at 921-1026.

HISTORIC DAY SET

In Cranbury. The fourth Preservation Experience in Middlesex County program will take place on Saturday, September 12, from 9 to 5 in Cranbury. The day will be celebrated as Historic Cranbury Day and is free to the public.

Cranbury has been called "the best preserved 19th century village in Middlesex County." It was a halfway point in colonial times, known to George Washington, Marquis de Lafayette and Alexander Hamilton. Georges Road, which runs from New Brunswick to Cranbury, was named for George Rescorrick, a tavern owner, and was originally a Delaware Indian trail.

Dr. Poul Clemens, professor of history at Rutgers University, will speak at 3 on "Cranbury: Life in a 19th-Century Rural Community" at the Cranbury Museum, 4 Park Place. The day will feature museum tours, strolling musicians, a clown, antique cars, sidewalk sales, marathon races, food, crafts, plants and other events.

The Preservation Experience in Middlesex County — 11 programs such as the one in Cranbury and a concluding conference — is sponsored by the Middlesex County Cultural and Heritage Commission and is funded by the New Jersey Committee for the Humanities.

Shirley J. Horner, a television producer and author from Mountainside, is the project director and editor of pamphlets about each historic site in the 11 programs. She may be reached at (201) 232-2804.

For additional information, contact Jeffrey A. Kesper, administrator, Middlesex County Cultural and Heritage Commission, 841 Georges Road, North Brunswick, (201) 745-2788.

CHILD CARE OFFERED

By Princeton YMCA. There are three pre-school child care programs to choose from at the YMCA, and all three can be coordinated with the gym and swim programs also available for the pre-school child.

CRANBURY QUILT: The history of Cranbury from the 1690's is told in 12 scenes in this quilt made as a Bicentennial project by the Cranbury Historical and Preservation Society. The quilt is on display in the Cranbury Museum. Cranbury will be the setting for a Historic Day Saturday from 9 to 5 as part of the Middlesex County Cultural and Heritage Commission's 11 Preservations experiences.

The morning Toddler Child Care program for boys and girls age 2½-4 years old meets Monday through Friday from 9 to 11:30. Children can come one, two, three, four or five days a week. The program centers around stories, games, music, creative dramatics, field trips and toys. The session will begin September 21 and end in June.

The two afternoon programs are Creative Child Care for boys and girls age 4-6 years old and Toddler Child Care for boys and girls ages 2½-4. These programs will meet Monday through Friday from 11:45 to 3:45, and again, children may attend one, two, three, four or five days a week.

Returning staff are Lydio Angle, Lynn Palmer, Mike Pastor and Susan Greenthal. Space in all three Child Care programs is limited and registrations are currently being accepted. Registration is available at the YMCA, Paul Robeson Place, or by calling 924-4497.

PROGRAMS LISTED

By YMCA. Opportunities for parents to spend time with their children on a one-to-one basis are provided by the YMCA through its parent-child clubs. The programs are called Indian Guides, Indian Princess and Trail Blazers.

The Indian Guides program is for fathers and sons age 6, 7, and 8 years old. The Indian Princess program is similar but for fathers and daughters age 6-8. A group of 6-8 father-child pairs are called tribes, and each tribe meets in a member's home at least once a month and participates in a special event with other tribes once a month. Activities include campouts, skating parties, family picnics and kite flying as well as craft projects and trips.

Call the YMCA, 924-4497, to register or come to the introductory nights on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 22 and 23, at 8 of the YMCA, Paul Robeson Place.

WELDING CABLE TAKEN

From Baker Rink. One-hundred fifty feet of welding cable valued at $300 was stolen last week from Baker Rink on the Princeton University campus.

Also missing, police said, are a sledge hammer, nitrogen gauge, flashlight and pair of pliers with a combined value of $78. The police investigation by Ptl. Jack Petrone Jr. revealed that several tool boxes had been broken into and rifled. Entry to the rink was gained through an unlocked door on the north side of the building.

A home on Hun Road was entered Monday through an unlocked kitchen window.

Police report that a desk in a den, dining room cabinets and a jewelry box in a bedroom were rifled. Some silver items are missing, according to Township police, who are waiting for a complete list of stolen articles.

In the Borough, someone last week pried open a room in Cuyler Hall, on the University campus, and took a $25 knapsack, $20 mirror and yellow blouse valued at $15.

SEMINAR PLANNED

On Motor Skills and Learning. A seminar on the integration of gross motor and fine motor skills and their effects on academic adjustment will be conducted on September 19 and October 17. The seminar is sponsored by the Occupational Therapy Department of The Medical Center at Princeton and will feature Barbara Knickerbocker as its primary speaker.

Ms. Knickerbocker, the author of "A Holistic Approach To The Treatment of Learning Disorders," has specialized in the treatment of learning disorders over the past 17 years. She is involved in treating high school and college students as well as working with adults with residual problems of organizing and performing tasks.

The program will include a lecture, presentation and demonstration of two children using gross motor equipment and desk activities as well as outlining guidelines for therapists, teachers and parents.

For further information call the Occupational Therapy Department at 734-4618.

PEOPLE In The News

Ira Silverman, of Winant Road, director of Special Programs at the American Jewish Committee, has been named president of the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College in Philadelphia, Pa. He succeeds Rabbi Ira Eisenstein, who has held the position since the founding of the College in 1968.

At the American Jewish Committee since February, 1977, Mr. Silverman has been responsible for coordinating the organization's national program activities. Before joining the Committee, he was director of the Institute for Jewish Policy Planning and Research of the Synagogue Council of America. He has also served as Washington correspondent for the Jerusalem Post and for the Tel Aviv daily newspaper, Yediot Achronot.

He worked previously as director of Federal Relations of the Association of American Universities and as a faculty member and Director of Admissions at the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University.

The Jewish Reconstructionist movement was founded in the 1930's by Rabbi Mordecai M. Kaplan. His philosophy and theology underlie its point of view that Judaism is an evolving religious civilization: a culture and a way of life as well as a religion. In the Reconstructionist view, Judaism must change with the conditions of contemporary life while maintaining continuity with traditional Jewish rituals and customs.

John P. Van Zandt of Blawenburg has been appointed as deputy director of the state agriculture department's Division of Rural Resources. He has previously served as Coordinator of Rural Resource Services.

In his new position he will assume greater administrative responsibility and will coordinate and evaluate various programs of the division.

Mr. Van Zandt, who raised his own family on the same farm which had been farmed by his father and grandfather in Somerset County, is known for his participation in the department's farmland retention programs. When he first joined the state agriculture department in 1971, he was one of the chief staff members of the Blueprint Commission on the Future of New Jersey Agriculture headed by state secretary of agriculture Phillip Alampi.

Later, Mr. Van Zandt coordinated the department's participation in the farmland preservation pilot project in Burlington County (1976-78), and the recently completed "Grassroots" study and report of agricultural retention techniques for New Jersey.

He earned a bachelor of science degree in agriculture from Cornell University and before joining the Department of Agriculture he operated the largest farm equipment agency in the state with his father and brother for 21 years. He is the former president of the New Jersey Farm Equipment Dealers Association.

Anthropologist Ashly Montague of 321 Cherry Hill Road will give the keynote address at a major colloquium on "The Body: Matter, Metaphor and Mores" at Douglass College this fall. Dr. Montague's talk, entitled "Neoteny, Brains, Body and Culture," will be given Wednesday, September 9, at 7 in Room 022 of the Loree Annex on Lipman Drive. His major interest is the relation of cultural factors to the physical and behavioral evolution of man. He is the author of numerous books, including "Man's Most Dangerous Myth: The Fallacy of Race."

Adam S. Abelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Abelson of 40 Caldwell Drive, and Susan E. Prockop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Prockop of 38 Turner Court, will enter Bates College in Maine as freshmen this fall.

Stephen D. Levy of Lawrenceville has been appointed director of the Chemical Research and Development Department of Cyanamid's Agricultural Research Division. He will supervise the development of agricultural chemical processes.

Dr. Levy, who holds a Ph.D. in organic chemistry from Columbia University, previously supervised the development of agricultural chemical processes as manager of Process Development. Earlier he was a group leader, managing chemists involved in the development of processes for the manufacture of agricultural chemicals.

Dr. Levy first joined Cyanamid in 1961 as a research chemist at the Stamford, Conn., laboratories.

department and would receive the present Dinky station in return.

The result would be a straight line drawn from the Wawa store on the south side of University, through to the tennis pavilion, without the bump caused by the intrusion of the Dinky station. It would give the University more protection for its campus, particularly the New South administration building.

To make the project really attractive to a developer, Mr. Hillier suggested, the land to be developed should include all the houses along Alexander Street. They are owned with one or two exceptions, by the University. The exceptions are private residences.

Everyone present at the meeting seemed to like the sound of Mr. Hillier's idea, but it does present complications. Borough and Township would like an arrangement similar to the one they have with the state: a 50-year-lease, with two 25-year renewals, for a century total. The University is sold to prefer an actual exchange of titles, but the purchase of land from the state — in this case, the Department of Transportation — can sometimes take years.

much to be accomplished. The Tigers' have not won an Ivy title since 1969, and have not captured the championship outright since 1964, their last undefeated season.

More important to many would be a victory over Yale, last achieved in 1966. The Elis' dominance has been so complete that few of the 14 losses have even been close.

Approaching the coming season, Princeton appears to have the necessary talent on hand to continue its winning ways, and finish near the top of the Ivy League, but probably will have to wait a while longer to attain those goals that have eluded it. (See Sports in Princeton, page 11B.)

No matter, it still should be a fine season, and with an added bit of interest. After playing the same nine teams for almost two decades, the Tigers added Maine as a 10th opponent last year. And, this fall, two more are scheduled. Delaware and Army will replace Rutgers and Colgate, and Navy will return in 1983.

Yale, which seems to be building a dynasty among the Ivies, similar to Alabama in the Southeastern Conference, will be the team to beat again.

Can Princeton do it? At this point it would seem more than the Tigers could manage. But who knows. The running game is there, if Bob Holly emulates Mark Lockenmeyer at quarterback, if the defensive unit jells, if injuries are few...

BUG-OF-THE-WEEK

HEMLOCK WOOLLY APHID

Most of you have probably put your garden sprayers away for the season, due to waning insect activity. The hemlock woolly aphid (HWA) however, keeps our equipment running until early October. This tiny sucking insect has recently become the most serious pest of hemlocks in the Princeton area, destroying their beauty and killing them if uncontrolled for a few years. Part of the severity of this pest is due to the lack of proper identification by pesticide applicators, confusing it with two other hemlock insects, resulting in the wrong sprays being applied at the wrong time.

The HWA is very small and difficult to see. However, it is easily located by its waxy secretions that form a woolly looking tuft over each insect. The HWA feeds on the sap of hemlock twigs and branches, often in such numbers that the twigs appear snow-covered. New growth is retarded or prevented so that when the previous years' needles drop, the twig dies.

Late September to early October is the best time to control HWA. Your "one shot cure-all" spring foliar spray is not effective for this insect. Chemical sprays are necessary to save infested trees, and where hemlocks are damaged, heavy fertilization is also recommended.

The only non-chemical prevention of HWA damage appears to be in the location of landscape hemlocks. Trees should be planted in full sun and overcrowding or heavy shading of lower limbs should be avoided. Where hemlocks are planted in the shade of larger trees or maintained in thick hedges, they should be carefully checked annually for early signs of HWA and treated promptly where problems arise.

Call us for plant pest control and liquid tree feeding through soil injection.

BUSINESS

In Princeton

FROM MATHEMATICA
Record Fourth Quarter. Mathematica, Inc., Washington Road, Princeton Junction, reported this week that business levels and net income in the fourth quarter and for the year ending June 30, 1981 exceeded all previous records.

Dr. Tibor Fabian, President of Mathematica, said that, "the excellent results, topping all earlier levels, are principally attributable to our proprietary RAMIS II database management system and nonprocedural programming language."

Fourth quarter revenues from continuing operations were $9.8 million including $4.0 million from the company's computer software business. Last year's fourth quarter revenues totaled $8.7 million. Income from continuing operations was $494,000 or $0.70 per share, up 113 percent from $232,000, or $0.33 per share in last year's fourth quarter.

Fiscal year 1981 revenues from continuing operations were $35.6 million, up 16 percent from $30.6 million last year, and income from continuing operations was $1,155,000 or $1.64 per share, as compared with $852,000 or $1.21 per share last year.

Consolidated net income, after the previously reported loss of $201,000 or $0.29 per share from the company's discontinued lottery-related activities amounted to $954,000 or $1.35 per share, up 13 percent from last year's net income of $846,000 and net per share income of $1.20.

The RAMIS II related software business reached the $12.1 million targeted revenue level, up 53 percent from last year's $7.9 million, continuing the better than 50 percent compound annual rate of growth since fiscal year 1976. Mathematica reports that the company's business grew in fiscal 1981 of 34 percent of consolidated revenues as compared with only 25 percent last year.

Superintendent Houston, Eager to Begin His Fifth School Year, Plans Long-Range Studies of Princeton's Educational Needs

"Very exciting" long-range planning for Princeton's school system lies ahead this year, and Superintendent Paul Houston is eager to begin his fifth year on the job.

"What are we educating kids FOR? What kind of world will we have in 1994? What does the Princeton community want? These are the kinds of questions we'll be asking," the superintendent said, in an interview before the start of school.

A citizens committee, that classic Princeton device, will be appointed by the board in early October to begin long-range studies.

"We plan a blue-ribbon committee like the Selden committee of 1970," Dr. Houston continued. "The Selden group was remarkably on target, showing that this process really does yield results."

Superintendent and school board are interested in nominations for this committee, by the way. They'd like to form a group of eight to a dozen people with a variety of skills: education, business, "futurism," writing — what Dr. Houston calls "general, intelligent Princetonians."

In addition, the board will probably form sub-committees. Board member Harry Levine will be liaison, and Murray Cohen, once principal of Johnson Park, for whom this is reportedly the last year before retirement, will represent staff.

A feasibility study of "Strategy for the 80's," the report prepared by Niels H. Nielsen, will be part of the long-range study Dr. Houston said.

Mr. Nielsen's report has had wide coverage nationally, and the Education Facilities Committee in New York, believing the report is "on target," wants to work with Princeton.

"We'll develop, with them, a proposal for foundation support for a feasibility study," Dr. Houston said. "It's great for us, because the EFC has contacts with foundations far beyond what we have, and also expertise. They're interested in process — in community involvement. So we can tie in our long-range planning with a feasibility study, and it fits together nicely."

A Year to Consolidate. These long-range studies will be Dr. Houston's major task for the coming year, a year for looking far ahead, but a year to consolidate, as well.

"We had a traumatic last year," the superintendent commented. "This is the time to consolidate. We closed a school, transferred teachers, moved kids. This year, parents, kids and teachers will have a chance to get used to it all."

Dr. Houston said he was particularly pleased with the remarks last week of New Jersey's Commissioner of Education Fred Burke, who said that the state plans to pull back on the number of mandates laid upon school districts.

"Teachers have been inundated in the last few years by all these mandates," Dr. Houston observed. "Now, if the state really does lay off, it will be a lot easier."

Along the lines of consolidating, the schools will "continue to improve supervision and evaluation of staff," will move forward on the Gifted and Talented program, continue the Global Education approach and strengthen the philosophy of the success-based school.

"There will be heavy emphasis at the Middle School on Gifted and Talented. We want to modify the programs there with G & T in mind."

Providing for the gifted and talented child is part of the success-based school, the superintendent pointed out.

"... and along these lines, we expect a report this fall from the task force on remedial education, and from Student Services on the care of our handicapped kids."

Writing Needs Attention. This year, the schools will start the first phase in a writing program designed to cover the system, K through 12. Dr. Houston and his staff are less concerned about reading — "with the kinds of scores we have, that's not the most pressing problem" — but they do feel that writing needs attention.

How Many?

The school system Superintendent Paul Houston will preside over this year, will have about 2,800 students in its five schools.

Mostly, each school will have about the number of students projected for it. Princeton High School, however, is over its projection, and has picked up about 40 students from private schools.

Whether this is due to the economy and the increasing cost of private schools, Dr. Houston doesn't know. He suggested that it may have become more "in" to go to PHS than it once was, and he remarked that the individual welcome given to parents by Principal John Sakala gives the school almost the aura of a private school.

News Of The THEATRES

HERE'S THE CAST

For McCarter Opener, "Just Between Ourselves," described by McCarter as "a wickedly funny comedy," will open the theatre's 1981-82 season, and director Nagle Jackson announced this week the names of his cast.

The playwright, of course, is Alan Ayckbourn, the British playwright who likes to skewer the life-style of the English middle-class. "Just between Ourselves," which opened in London in 1977, pivots around several birthday parties, the sale of a car and the criss-crossing relationships between and among husbands, wives, friends and a mother-in-law.

Mr. Jackson will direct the cast of five, who have already gone into their first rehearsal. The cast includes Peggy Cowles, Herb Foster, Robert Lanchester, Jill Tanner and Joan White. Set and costumes are designed by John Jensen, who did "The Play's the Thing," last season. The lighting will be designed by Marc B. Weiss.

Peggy Cowles and Joan White are newcomers to the company. Ms. Cowles, a native of Spokane, Wash., came to Princeton after touring with the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre as Blanche Dubois in "A Streetcar Named Desire," for four weeks in Japan. A graduate of the Yale school of Drama, she also tours in a one-woman play, "The Independent Woman." She is married to playwright David A. Stein.

Miss White made her stage debut with Tyrone Guthrie at Festival Theatre, Cambridge, and has played many roles in England, Canada and the United States. She is familiar with Mr. Ayckbourn's work, having played in the Broadway production of his play, "Bedroom Farce." Returning

Are You Tiny Tim?

If you think you are, McCarter Theatre invites you to try out for the part. In fact, you're invited to try out for any of the children's parts in the McCarter production of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," which will be given again this year.

Parents are asked to sign up this Sunday between 1 and 5 at McCarter's Open House II for an audition appointment. Auditions will be held in early October, and no audition appointments will be made before Sunday.

Children should memorize a short piece they can recite on stage for director Nagle Jackson when their turn comes in October. Auditions will be limited to children between seven and 12 years old. No theatre experience is necessary.

to McCarter this season are Herb Foster and Jill Tanner. Audiences will recall Foster as the Miser in that 1980 production. Jill Tanner portrayed Frosine in that same production of "The Miser" and was also Myra in "Hay Fever."

Mr. Lanchester is beginning his third year of residency with the McCarter Theatre company. Aside from playing many roles, Mr. Lanchester oversees the play reading series and directs the annual Stage II production.

PINTER

In New Brunswick, Harold Pinter's "Betrayal," a study of an unusual and sophisticated triangle, will open the season at the George Street Playhouse in New Brunswick on Thursday, September 24. It will play through October 17, with performances Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays at 8, Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 and Sundays at 3 and 7:30. Matinees are Wednesdays at noon and Saturdays at 4.

"Betrayal," which has flashes of unexpected humor within its melancholy, has been described (Newsweek) as "a haunting vision of a man as a creature trapped in an orbit of betrayal that sends him circling around the ideal, without ever touching it."

Community Players Set to Open 49th Season with 'The Shadow Box'
 The 49th season for Princeton Community Players will open, not in Princeton, but in Trenton. A PCP production of Michael Cristofer's "The Shadow Box" will serve to open the new Mill Hill Playhouse, Front and Montgomery Streets, on October 16 and 17.
 The Pulitzer Prize-winning drama will then open PCP's season on its own stage, the theatre at 171 Broadmead in Princeton. The play, under Nick Proccaccino's direction, will play for three weekends starting Friday, October 23. "Shadow Box" focuses on the lives of three patients at a hospice for the terminally ill.
 The season will continue through winter and spring with a varied program. Starting December 4 and playing for three weekends, will be "Vanities." Jack Heifner's comedy about three young women who stumble their way through high school, college and finally the adult years, carefully carrying all their human imperfections along the way. Marie Bograd will direct.

LET'S

SAVE A LEAF!
HELP A TREE!

with Sam De Turo

Woodwinds Associates

The drought may cause trees to start shedding their leaves earlier this year since our trees need every bit of help we can give them, here is a way to put those leaves to good use in protecting roots from further damage.

At least once a week, rake up leaves from lawn areas and put them on a compost pile for use as a mulch around trees and shrubs. Leaf mulch contains proteins that turn into nitrates, as well as trace elements which trees and plants require in minute quantities. Mulches help conserve soil moisture and aid in preventing root-kill by winter cold, and root-cooking during periods of summer heat and drought.

You might consider two compost piles: one for Oak leaves only which are ideal mulch for acid-loving plants (Rhododendron, Laurel, Azalea). On any mulch pile, a sprinkling of fertilizer, lime and soil in layers provides an excellent material (turn the pile occasionally for best results).

If leaf-fall on your lawn is not particularly heavy, use a mechanical leaf-chopper which chews leaves into tiny bits and deposits them between blades of grass. Very good stuff for your lawn!

Remember WOODWINDS is always happy to answer any questions you may have about your valuable trees and shrubs. Call us at 924-3500.

News Of

Clubs and Organizations

The Lioness Club will meet on Monday at 6:30 at the Nassau Inn.

The first fall meeting of the Princeton area alumna club of the Alpha Chi Omega national sorority will be held on Monday at 8. Members will meet at the home of the club president, Mrs. Deborah Hunt, 800 Windsor-Perrineville Road, East Windsor, for a business meeting and social hour.

In addition to Mrs. Hunt, new officers for the year include Ellen Price, vice-president; Jennifer Schmidt, corresponding secretary; Linda Messam, recording secretary; Jan Anderson, treasurer; Doty woodbury, social chairman; Jere Eich, altruism chairman; Sidney Mudge, publicity chairman and historian; Marion Durgom, chaplain; Floss Morse, membership chairman; Barbara Heller, rush chairman; and Lenise Smith, nominating chairman.

Alumnae members of Alpha Chi Omega who are new in the area or who have not attended a meeting are also welcome at the September meeting and may call Mrs. Hunt at 448-1148 for further information.

The Princeton Chapter of Deborah will meet Tuesday evening at 8 at the First National Bank of Central New Jersey, Washington Avenue, Rocky Hill. Discussion will center on the Chinese Auction, to be held October 13.

Admission to the Auction will be $5 per card, with the card entitling the bearer to chances on prizes and refreshments. Because of space limitations, admission will be on a first-come, first-served basis, and there will be no tickets sold at the door. For reservations call Mary Etta Owens, 921-7164, Gertrude Scassera, 924-0545, or Lila Watson, 924-0979.

Refreshments will be served at Tuesday's meeting.

The Mercer County Chapter of the American Diabetes Association will meet Wednesday, September 16 at 8 in the basement cafeteria of Hamilton Hospital, Whitehorse-Hamilton Square Road, Trenton. After a short business meeting, Laraine C. Abbey, a nurse nutritionist in private practice, will give a talk. Refreshments will be served.

The Dogwood Garden Club will meet Thursday at 11 at the home of Mrs. Dean W. Chase, 36 Drakes Corner Road. Mrs. Edward Schulz will serve as co-hostess.

At the 1 p.m. meeting following luncheon, Mrs. William H. Aiken, president, will discuss long range planning for the club. Mrs. Charles Cornforth, a member, will be the guest speaker and will talk on "Helpful Hints on Spring Bulbs."

The YWCA Newcomers Club invites newcomers and members to its September General Meeting on Friday, September 18, at 12:30 at the YWCA on Paul Robeson Place.

Each month the Newcomers Club offers different activities, such as Gourmet, Bridge, Sports, Antiques, Princeton History, Theatre Trips, Town and Country and Book Discussions. Anyone who lives within 15 miles of Princeton and has lived here for less than three years is invited to attend the meeting and to join the club.

For more information about the club call Mayeve Tate, president, at 921-1645 or Cristina Wadsworth, membership, at 924-0764. For information about babysitting during the meeting call Mary Beth Moss at 799-6189.

The Soroptimist International will meet on Tuesday for dinner at the Nassau Inn. The speaker will be Tristram Johnson, who will talk on the March of Rochambeau.

For months Mr. Johnson has been organizing a three-day reenactment of General Washington's meeting with General Rochambeau. The events are to start October 10 with an 18th Century American Re-enactment campsite at Battlefield Park.

The Princeton Soroptimists are a service group of business and professional women. Their local projects include a fashion show, and plant sales. Proceeds are destined to scholarships, to the Skillman School for Boys, and support of the elderly.

The Mercer County Association for Gifted and Talented Children will meet on Monday at 8 at the Educational Improvement Center, 3684 Route 1.

The purposes of this newly formed association are to serve as a public advocate for gifted and talented children and to disseminate information concerning the gifted and talented to interested persons. It is a non-profit, cooperative organization.

Among the topics to be covered at this meeting is the "Mercer Medley," a series of Saturday-morning workshops to be offered to gifted and talented children beginning on Saturday, October 3.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the association is welcome to attend or to call Gerry Higham at 737-2584.

The Princeton area National Organization for Women will meet on Wednesday, September 16, at 7:30 at Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane and Houghton Street (next to Princeton High School).

This meeting will feature a "Back to NOW" party, to which former members, present members, and interested newcomers are invited. Wine and cheese will be served, and a panel of speakers will answer questions about the Equal Rights Amendment. For more information, call 921-2494 or 921-3346.

The Central Jersey Chapter of the Sierra Club invites members and the general public to a "Come Share Your Slides" show this Wednesday at 8 in Room 220 Guyot Hall, off Washington Road, Princeton University campus. Participants are invited to bring their 10 best nature or conservation slides to share with the group.

The Insurance Women of Mercer County will hold a dinner meeting Monday at 6 at Agabiti's Restaurant in Morrisville, Pa. Guests from the insurance industry and related organizations are invited. This will be a planning meeting for the year's activities. Call 883-8349 for more information.

The Greater Princeton Jaycees will meet this Wednesday at 7:30 at Colross, Princeton Day School, The Great Road. Terry Grove, regional director of CROP, the Community Hunger Appeal of Church World Service, will give a talk and slide presentation on the Princeton CROP Walk and the use of the funds collected.

The Princeton Jaycees will also vote on the right of women to join the Jaycees — as will every local Jaycee chapter in the United States during the month of September. The Princeton Jaycees are entering their sixth year of having women members — in contravention to official U.S. Jaycee policy.

The Princeton Weavers Guild will meet Thursday, at 7:30 at the First National Bank of Central Jersey, Route 518, Rocky Hill. Dolly Curtis will speak on "Weaving for Architectural Spaces."

Ms. Curtis's work has been featured at the Pinder Gallery in SoHo, New York City. She has won many awards and has written articles for weaving magazines and books. She is currently finishing "Rainbow Wall Pieces" for a Chicago firm.

Yale Heavy Favorite to Win Third Title in a Row; Dartmouth, Harvard, Princeton May Challenge

In the quarter century that has elapsed since the Ivy League was formalized, every one of the eight teams has won or shared the title in football at least once.

That's a claim that probably very few other conferences around the country can make, and perhaps helps to perpetuate the myth about the Ivy being the best balanced of all of them. "On any given Saturday," the saying goes, "any Ivy team has a good chance of beating any other."

Comparatively speaking, maybe Columbia does have a better chance against Yale than say Northwestern against Michigan, but it hasn't made much difference over the years.

A close look at league statistics over the years reveals that Dartmouth and Yale have won the title far more than anyone else. Four teams, Cornell, Penn, Brown and Columbia have won or shared the championship just once in 25 years. Harvard and Princeton fall in the middle, but substantially behind the two leaders.

Dartmouth held sway in the 60's and early 70's, until it was replaced by Yale. The Elis have captured the crown five of the last six years, including the last two. Under coach Carm Cozza, they are 82-26-3.

Though he may think otherwise privately, Cozza plays the equality game to the hilt in his public pronouncements. Consider his pre-season estimate: "I expect a wide open race for the Ivy title," he predicts. "I do not think early games will determine the final standings, because it will be a season where anybody can win."

Don't hold your breath. On the basis of returning personnel, Yale is head and shoulders above the rest of the league. It can be beaten, but it will take an absolutely superlative effort by one of three other contenders.

Dartmouth, Harvard and Princeton appear to have the best chance of unseating the Blue but each will have to develop its potential to the fullest to pull off the upset. Harder hit by losses through graduation, Brown and Cornell are fighting longer odds. Rest assured, however, that coaches John Anderson and Bob Blackman will squeeze the most out of available personnel.

All opposing coaches will pay lip service to the abilities of Columbia and Penn, and then go out and whip them. In the past two years, they've beaten nobody but each other.

Following is a short summary of each team's prospects:

Princeton's Scrimmage with Lafayette Produces Good News and Bad News

As the saying goes, there is good news and bad news as a result of the Princeton-Lafayette scrimmage last Saturday. Only second and third unit personnel saw action for both teams.

First the good news: junior quarterback Brent Woods played almost the entire game, completing 24 of 38 passes for 298 yards and one touchdown, a three-yard toss to running back Roland Warren. Woods also was the team's leading rusher with 50 yards.

Another standout was sophomore wide receiver Kevin Guthrie, who caught 12 passes for 180 yards. Included among his receptions were two spectacular diving catches for long gains. He seems a good bet to move up on the depth chart. End Scott Oostdyk had seven receptions for 96 yards.

On the minus side, the Tigers could only score twice, missing on three other opportunities. Two fumbles were lost inside the Leopards five-yard line, and Woods was intercepted on the goal line.

Lafayette, meanwhile, rolled up some impressive offensive statistics of its own, and scored four touchdowns and one field goal. The visitors rattled Princeton's pass defense for 306 yards, and rushed for 189 more.

The Tigers' running attack, hampered by the loss of Warren who left early with a slight groin pull, gained just 89 yards. Sophomore Jeff Robnett scored the team's other touchdown on a two-yard run.

Adding up all the pluses and minuses, head coach Frank Navarro labled the scrimmage "a positive experience." First-line players will be used in the Wilkes scrimmage set for this Saturday at 11.

Yale: Cozza is more on target when he comments, "We know people will be shooting for us." The Elis' opponents will be, all right, but they better go loaded for bear. Twenty-five lettermen, 11 starters among them, return from last year's 8-2 squad.

Heading the list of returnees is senior tailback Rich Diana, whose collection of post-season awards included UPI's New England Player of the Year. Last fall Diana became only the third Yale rusher in history to gain more than 1,000 yards.

Defensively, the Green has nine of 11 starters back, plus 10 of 11 of the back-up personnel. That should give the offense some time to develop.

Harvard: The Crimson is hard to figure this early in the season. Only seven starters return, but it has good reserve players, plus two strong years by its freshman football teams (11-1). This may produce some new talent, and could make Harvard a contender.

Replacing Brian Buckley at quarterback will be tough. Don Allard seems to be the frontrunner here. Only one down lineman, Justin Whittington is back, along with a lone returnee at linebacker, Brad Stinn. However, the secondary led by All-Ivy pick Rocky Kelgadillo and captain Peter Coppinger is in fine shape.

Fullback Jim Callinan anchors the ground game, and Ron Cuccia, who has yet to live up to his billing, will be back at split end. Cuccia was Here's a surprising fact... In all the Super Bowls played so far, only 2 teams from the National Conference of the National Football League have EVER won it... The only NFC teams ever to win the Super Bowl are Dallas and Green Bay... All the other Super Bowl winners have been teams in the American Conference.

Oddly enough, the top 3 runners in the history of the National Football League in most career yards gained rushing-- Jim Brown, O.J. Simpson and Franco Harris-- All wore the same uniform number, 32.

Did you know that a major-college football team once--incredibly-- played 9 straight years without losing a game... That amazing streak was made by the University of Washington... They lost a game in 1907 and then didn't lost another one until 1917, going 63 games without a loss... No other team in football history ever played that many consecutive years without losing a game.

Back also is senior quarterback John Rogan, the best among the Ivy signal callers and already fifth in career passing yardage at New Haven. "He'll be throwing primarily to Curtis Grieve, who caught 32 aeriels last year and scored eight touchdowns.

Two All-Ivy linemen and a solid linebacking corps will form the nucleus of a strong defense, which has been the trademark of Cozza teams. The unit will be led by captain Fred Leone who earned All-American honorable mention at end.

If Cozza has any concern, it's the relative inexperience of his offensive line, where he needs replacements. He may be able to offset the lack of experience with size -- the leading candidates average around 6.2, 235 pounds.

Dartmouth: If junior Rick Stafford picks up at quarterback where he left off in Palmer Stadium in the final game, the Green could mount a strong threat to Yale. Replacing the injured Jack Kemp, Stafford had a fine second half against the Tigers.

The running attack with Dennis Runck, Sean Maher and Peter Lavery is in good shape, but the offensive line needs rebuilding. Dave Shula is gone, but Shaun Teevens will be a definite threat at

Eleventh Annual Fall Sports Clinic To Be Held at Palmer Stadium Saturday

The 11th Annual First National Bank/Princeton University Fall Sports Clinic will take place on Saturday in Palmer Stadium beginning at 9:30 a.m. Children of all ages are invited to attend. Admission is free.

The clinic will feature drills in both football and soccer. Princeton head coach Frank Navarro and head soccer coach Bill Muse will both be on hand to give instruction, as will a number of other coaches and members of each squad.

The length of the clinic will be approximately one hour, with drills beginning promptly at 9:45 a.m. Three footballs and three soccer balls as well as a handful of tickets to Princeton football games will be raffled off at the end of the clinic.

Everyone is then invited to remain for a football practice scrimmage with Wilkes College that will begin at 11:15 a.m. First line members of the squad will be playing for each team in that scrimmage.

The Princeton football team opens its 113th season at Dartmouth on Saturday September 19 at 1:30. The men's soccer team begins its season at Swarthmore on Wednesday September 16 at 3:30.

heavily recruited by Princeton.

Cornell: Bob Blackman is a legend in the Ivy League for his ability to get the most out of his teams, and he'll need that and more this fall. Only three starters return from the 1980 squad that handed Yale its only Ivy loss, and finished second.

Swingback Alvin Taylor and a pair of defensive backs, Dave Kimichik and Ken Williams, are the only starting players back. A strong freshman team, 5-1, in 1980, should be able to supply some talent.

The best thing going for Cornell is the schedule. It opens at Penn, and then doesn't play another Ivy game until Oct. 10 when it entertains Harvard. Blackman may have things rolling by then.

Brown: Also hard hit by graduation, the Bruins have never had a losing season in the eight coach John Anderson has been at the helm, and he is optimistic the streak will continue. Seven starters return.

Anderson's first task will be to find a replacement for ECAC all-star quarterback Larry Carbone, the league's total offense leader the past two seasons. Junior Hank Landers, who has some game experience under his belt, is the heir apparent.

Two fine running backs, fullback Steve Curtin and tailback Rich Villella have also departed, as has Mitch Metz, the leading pass receiver, but Anderson has some capable replacements in the wings. All-Ivy tight end Steve Jordon will be back as well.

Both the offensive and defensive lines need rebuilding, with more work to do on offense.

Penn: The Quakers should fare better than Columbia this fall in the battle between these two perennial doormats. A 1-9 season in 1980 brought about the demise of personable Harry Gamble as coach, but he may have laid a firm foundation for the new mentor, Jerry Berndt.

Fifteen starters return, including the entire offensive line, defensive backfield and most of the line. The Quakers will also have an experienced backfield with co-captains Rick Beauvais and Steve Rubin, who combined for more than 1,000 yards last year.

Needed is a take-charge quarterback who will be able to handle the increased emphasis Berndt plans for the passing game. Gary Vura lettered at the position last year, but may be pushed by sophomore Bob Papenfuss. If this materializes, Penn could reach the .500 mark.

Columbia: Coach Bob Naso's first year was one he would rather forget. In 10 contests, the Lions squeaked by Lafayette, 6-0, and never even came close in the other nine. Ten starters, seven on offense, return with hopes of doing something more than merely showing up.

The job at quarterback is wide open with senior Greg Gennaro leading a six-man battle. Joe Cabrera is a quality running back, with 597 yards to his credit a year ago. Numerous holes need to be filled in both offensive and defensive lines and linebacker spots.

The Lions should improve this fall, but they'll still be little more than ankle biters.

Reviewed in detail last week, Princeton is a legitimate contender with Dartmouth, Harvard and possibly Cornell and Brown. Quarterback Bob Holly appears to be the key ingredient in his third year of on and off experience at the position.

The defense will have to mature quickly also. Perhaps the best thing going for the Tigers is their poor start a year ago. Navarro and his staff will be doing everything possible to insure the Tigers aren't 0-3 in early October again.

First-Year Coach Bill Cirullo and New Staff Hoping PHS Can Win without Paul Miles

VYING FOR QUARTERBACK: Candidates on the PHS football team for quarterback, which coach Bill Cirullo has termed the key to the team's success, are senior Dave Barclay (left) and Junior Terrance Phox. "At this point, I can't list one above the other," says coach Bill Cirullo.

Two questions immediately come to the forefront in any discussion of the 1981 Princeton High School football team.

Can the Little Tigers win without Paul Miles, and if they have the personnel to win, can new coach Bill Cirullo, who has to work with an entirely new staff, pull it together in time for the season's opener here September 26 against South Brunswick? (For more on Cirullo, see box on this page.)

Last year, Princeton High finished 8-1 in regular season play — its best record in more than a quarter of a century — under Jim Beachell, who lost his job when his teaching position was eliminated in the wake of budgetary cutbacks brought on by a shrinking enrollment. The heart of the PHS offense was Miles, who gained more than 3,000 yards in his high school career and scored 24 touchdowns as a junior.

Miles was incomparable, the standard by which all future Little Tiger running backs will be judged. "I've talked to people who have been familiar with the high school since it was built," said Cirullo. "I think there's no question but Miles was the best runner ever to come out of Princeton High School. We'll never be able to fill his shoes; it would be a mistake to try."

Actively recruited by such blue chip schools as Notre Dame, Penn State and Michigan, Miles chose Nebraska. Cirullo commented he has heard that Miles has increased his weight to 190 through a weight-lifting program and is running 40-yard sprints in 4.2. "That's as fast as the pros run it," he said. The consensus among the followers of Miles is that only an injury would bar him from an outstanding college career.

Last year, Beachell welcomed back the entire starting backfield, an explosive quartet which enabled the Little Tigers to average 28 points a game. The line had to be rebuilt.

This year the reverse is true: the entire backfield is gone but the offensive line with the exception of tight end Judd Petrone and guard Frank Whittaker "is the same line right across — even the backups," observed Cirullo. And even the backups such as Alec Hoke and Tom Murray had considerable varsity experience on offense.

But even though veteran quarterback Dave Dinella, a fine passer; wingback Steve Budd, a crunching blocker who helped spring Miles loose; team captain and fullback Brian Varvel — and Miles — are gone, Cirullo is not in the jam that one might imagine.

Overshadowed by the first string are some fine returning backs, two of whom Cirullo says would be certain starters on any other team in the area. One of the essential ingredients to any success this year, Cirullo stated, is the necessity to establish a quarterback who is a team leader. "I think that's the key," he said.

In this first of a three-part series on the prospect of the 1981 PHS team, TOWN TOPICS will take a look at the backfield candidates. In succeeding weeks it will discuss the line and defense and the outlook for the 1981 season.

There isn't any doubt who will replace Miles at tailback. It's senior Wayne Davis. Last year, when Miles would be

Cirullo Optimistic That Hard Work Will Pay Off for Little Tigers in '81

"I've always been an optimistic coach. Given some talent (players) I think you can win as many games as you're willing to make the effort to win. I'm convinced of that."

Bill Cirullo, Princeton High's new football coach, begins his tenure somewhat under the gun. He has to work with an entirely new staff. And the irreplaceable Paul Miles, who made the Little Tiger offense go for the past two years, has to be replaced.

"How do we win without Miles?" I think we'll do well simply because our emphasis will be different," Cirullo predicted. I think we have the personnel to develop a solid football team — a strong football team, if the kids jell.

Will that team be strong enough to be a contender in the Colonial Valley Conference League? (Princeton's lone regular season loss, a 10-8 setback at the hands of West Windsor, cost it the CVC crown last year.)

Although PHS has not been picked in the pre-season polls to win the CVC title — probably, feels Cirullo, because of the departure of Miles, the lack of an established quarterback and the appearance of a new coach — the 1966 PHS graduate and starting tailback on the 1965 Little Tiger team believes that, yes, "I do see us as a legitimate contender. I think we'll do all right."

Is he looking forward to the challenge? "Yes, I'm excited about it; I'd be lying if I said I wasn't. I love athletics and I've always loved football," said Cirullo who played at the University of Tennessee before an injury ended his career.

"All summer long I kept wondering how much of this can you shoulder? You can't go on the field with 60 guys and one coach. Once we hired a staff I felt a lot better. Then it became a matter of let's get on to football."

"Sure it's a challenge but I look forward to seeing the whole process unfolding. It's not as if I just walked into it. I've been there eleven years, a varsity coach for seven."

"Jim (Beachell) and I worked so closely but still you were filled in. Now I'm excited to see how it will unfold, to see how much success we have."

"It's exciting, very exciting. I spend every night on it — the offense, the defense...making sure everything is going to be right. There's no substitute for hard work. I know I've got to put a lot of hard work into it — and that's what I'm willing to do."

taken out of the lineup for a rest or after PHS had a comfortable lead, the opposition was shocked to find Davis ripping through the line just as fast and destructively.

"He Can Go!" "He's a dynamite tailback," agreed Cirullo. "There's no question he would have had a starting position with any other team in the county. He's extremely fast. He was only a step behind Paul. He can go!"

A sprinter and hurdler on the track team, Davis is 5-11, 165 pounds. "I'm expecting a lot out of him," said Cirullo.

At the moment, Davis's backup is Kyle Stephens, a 5-5, 145 pound junior, whom Cirullo described as "very quick." Stephens was tailback on the jayvee team and saw some action on defense on the varsity.

At wingback the starter will be Lamont Fletcher, another "speed burner" said Cirullo. A 5-10, 145 pound senior, Fletcher was elected by his teammates (along with center Paul Geller) to co-captain this year's team.

"He was a good share of our offense last year," continued Cirullo. When PHS threw the ball last fall it was mostly to Fletcher. A breakaway runner, Fletcher's hallmark was the long-gainer and at one time he was averaging nearly 20 yards per carry. Like Davis and Miles, Fletcher is a member of the school's undefeated track team.

Fletcher's competition will come from junior William Whittaker, a 5-10, 160 pounds, who played mostly defense last year. "He's very quick at 40 yards and should do a good job for us," predicted Cirullo.

Quarterback Battle. Two players are waging a battle to be the starting quarterback, the position Cirullo sees as critical. They are junior Terrance Phox, taller and lighter at 6-0, 165, than senior Dave Barclay, 5-10, 170. "They're both good athletes.

It's a good competitive match," observed Cirullo.

"Both have good style. Probably the only edge one has over the other would be in consistency and Terrance has that at this point. But when Barclay's on, there are not too many who are better.

"Both are game-breakers. They can make it happen. Both can run, both can deliver the key pass when it's needed. Both can come up with the big play." Until he gets a better look after scrimmages against North Brunswick, Princeton Day School, Delaware Valley and Freehold Boro — the one against North Brunswick is scheduled for this Wednesday and the one with PDS on Saturday at 11 at PHS — Cirullo added: "I can't list one above the other."

Two other quarterback candidates are junior Mark Shapiro, who played a lot of jayvee ball, and sophomore Jason Petrone.

Still another two-man battle is being waged at fullback between Larry McKellar and Scott Gabrielsen. McKellar, 6-2, 218 pounds, an All-County defensive end, "can be awesome," said Cirullo. "He can have a devastating effect on a team. "He has size, speed; he's just a marvelous athlete. He ran the 40s last year just three to four steps behind Miles and you're talking about the fastest guy in the state. If McKellar is ready to do it, there are not too many who can bring him down.

Dependable and Determined. While McKellar has a flair for the dramatic, Gabrielsen, says Cirullo, "is the kind of player you depend upon. He just does the job. He's very able and very determined, which is probably his greatest attribute. He's a fine athlete."

Gabrielsen, 5-11, 175, last year shared a starting linebacker position with two others. A third candidate is junior Anthony Turner, 5-8, 160, who played jayvee ball last year "and is just starting to come along for us," said Cirullo.

If Cirullo had to use one word to describe his backfield it would be "fast." "Collectively, I don't remember a faster ballclub.

"Other than speed," continued Cirullo, "I think we have power enough to establish an inside running game if we work hard at it. The power is there; it's a matter of developing it. Certainly we have the speed to hit the corners.

Concluded Cirullo, who called all the offensive plays last year, "we had the power to hit the middle. Miles gained more up the middle than he did going outside. That's where we attacked.

"Any good coach runs an offense directly related to his material. Last year we made a decision to go with a conservative passing game and take advantage of our power and ability to run. I don't think anyone would say that we didn't succeed.

Although Cirullo has no intention of abandoning the Power I formation and its multiple sets, he conceded that "this year you'll see us having a more balanced attack. "We have a couple of offensive twists we're installing to the advantage of the personnel we have."

Writing? For kindergartners?

"Sure. We've had kids in kindergarten writing short stories. You know — 'I saw a bear. The bear chased me. I ran home' — that kind of thing. And teachers will dictate letters, and the child will write them down, or the child will tell a story to the teacher."

Then, there is the state mandate on Family Life Education. Dr. Houston hopes to handle this mandate through school nurses. He already has a plan for elementary-school nurses to spend half an hour each week with each class, providing children with more instruction than before, consolidating health screenings and allowing the regular classroom teacher to pick up the "released time" provided for in teacher contracts.

"We finally have," the superintendent smiles, "a K-12 curriculum in phys. ed. This means that by the end of fifth grade, you'll have what you should have in phys. ed. at the end of fifth grade, and so will everyone else."

Increasingly, the superintendent said, he has come to see a need for kids to become self-reliant.

"I remember in New Orleans, with the high school choir. Here were Merit Scholars, handed a key to hotel room 894 — and they would ask what floor it was on. You find 13-year-olds who don't know how to get to New York and back — or how to survive while they're there."

"The things haven't been invented yet that today's kids will have to meet. They need to learn the flexibility to work out solutions."

"Phys. ed. is crucial here. In a modified kind of Outward Bound program they would learn about nature, or about the city. But underneath, they'd be learning how to face the unfamiliar."

ENTRIES STILL OPEN

For Sri Chinmoy Marathon. There is still time for novice and expert runners to enter Sunday's Sri Chinmoy Marathon in Plainsboro starting at 7 a.m.

Telephone registration will be taken through Saturday until 5 p.m., at (212) 523-3524, but there will be no day-of-race entries permitted. Entry fee is $5 ($8 with pre-ordered souvenir T-shirt). Race packets are to be picked up at the race site beginning at 6 Sunday morning.

The Sri Chinmoy Marathon is sanctioned and certified by the Road Runners Club of America and is the first in Plainsboro. Its flat, fast course makes it ideally suited for runners seeking to qualify for the Boston Marathon, where times of 2:50 or better for men and 3:20 or better for women are required of all entrants. For novice runners, the well-paved asphalt roads and runner-comfort aids should make a first-time, long-distance run an enjoyable event.

Runner comforts provided by the race sponsors include water and ERG stations at every mile as well as time splits and mile markers at every mile. In addition, there will be a post-race banquet at which trophies in age categories will be awarded and at which a random drawing will be held for merchandise awards.

The marathon is named for the sports philosopher, running enthusiast and UN meditation leader Sri Chinmoy. Sri Chinmoy heads the international Sri Chinmoy Marathon team, which is headquartered in Jamaica, N.Y. and organizes more than 200 races world-wide each year.
